4. Data analysis and interpretation

The following section represents the data collected in well-structured manner and useful insights will be drawn from it.

4.1 Demographic features of the sample

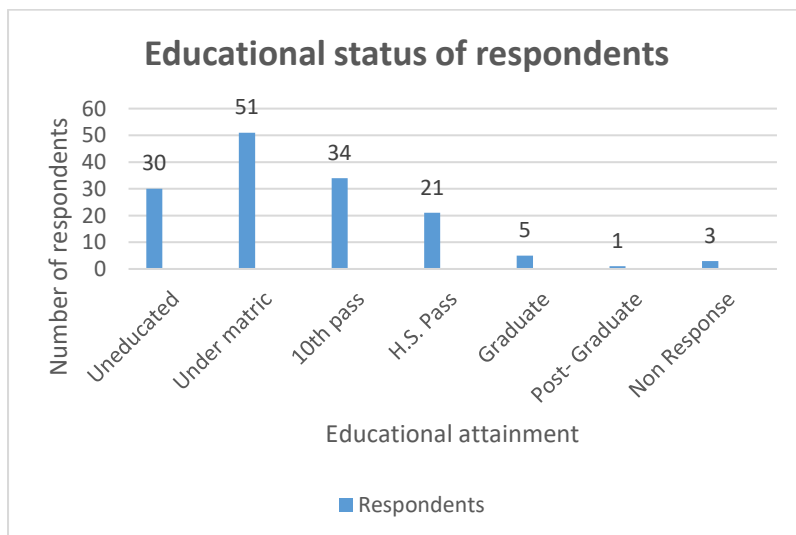

4.1.1 Gender wise distribution of the sample

Source: Primary Data

Majority of the respondents (67%) are observed to be females with 33% male respondents.

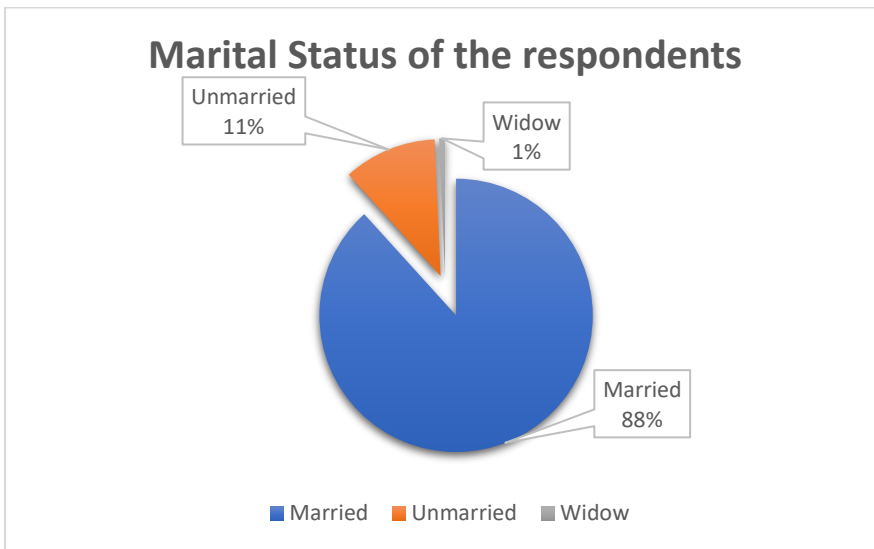

4.1.2 Educational status of respondents

Source: Primary Data

Interpretation: It is observed that a majority of the respondents have not attained higher education. While 30 of them (20.68%, approx.) are uneducated. This calls for initiatives and action regarding promotion of higher education.

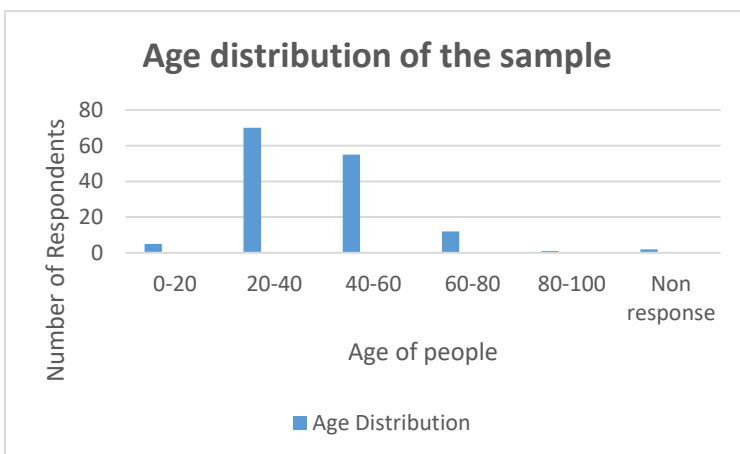

4.1.3 Marital Status of the respondents

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that 88% of the respondents are married while 11% are unmarried with 1 % widow.

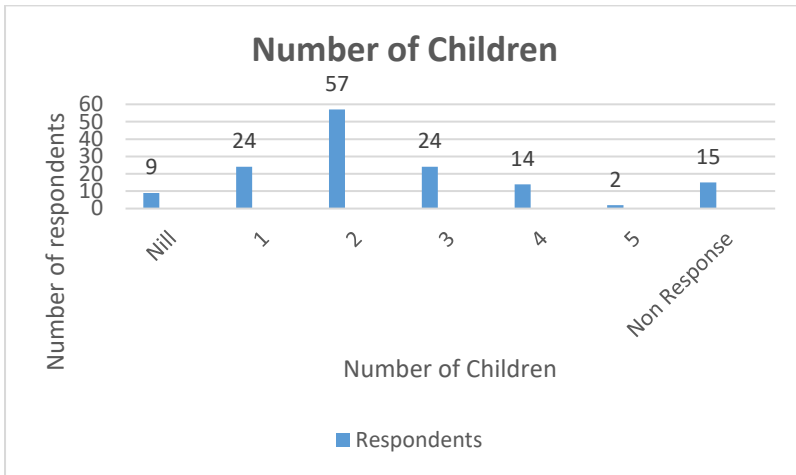

4.1.4 Age-wise distribution of the sample

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that majority of the population falls in the age group of 15-64 and hence are a part of the demographic dividend of the country and state.

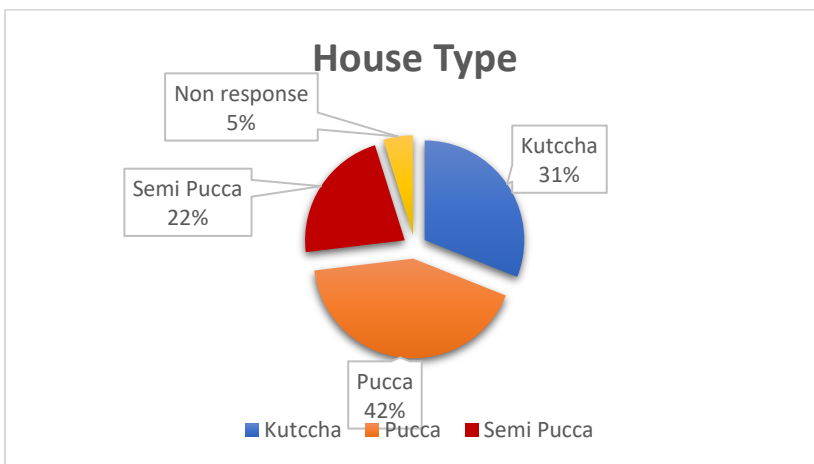

4.1.5 Number of children

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that majority of the respondents have more than one child. Hence importance of creating awareness regarding birth control and child policy is observed.

4.1.6 Type of house

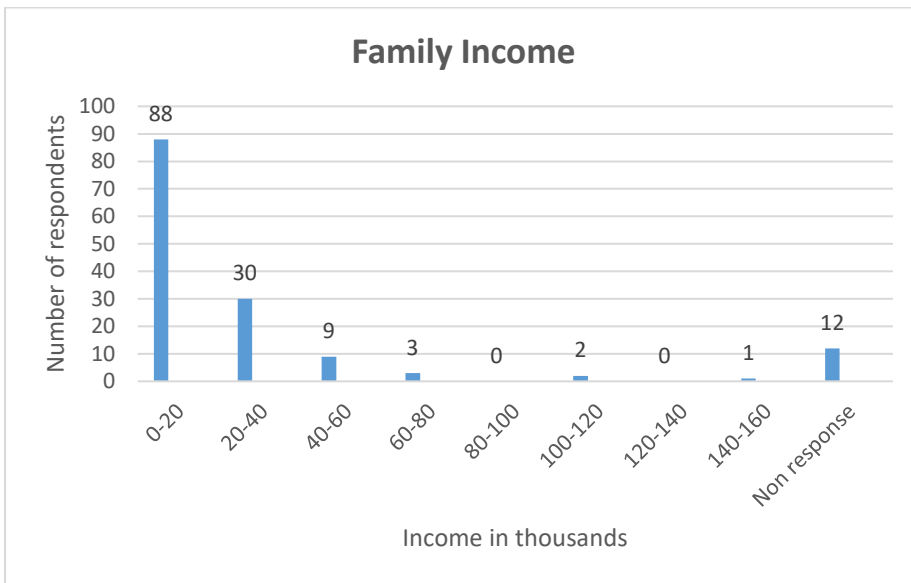

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that 42% of the sample owns a pucca house, which is a positive sign of development. However when observed carefully it is found that 22% of the sample lives in semi-pucca house and 31% lives in kutchcha houses. It means the majority of the population (51%) do not own a pucca house.

4.2 Economic Status of the Sample

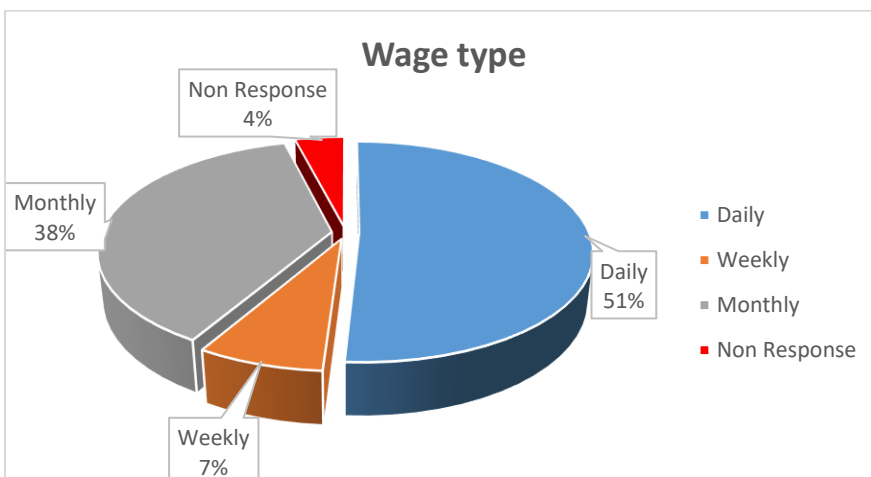

4.2.1 Family Income of the respondents

Source: Primary Data

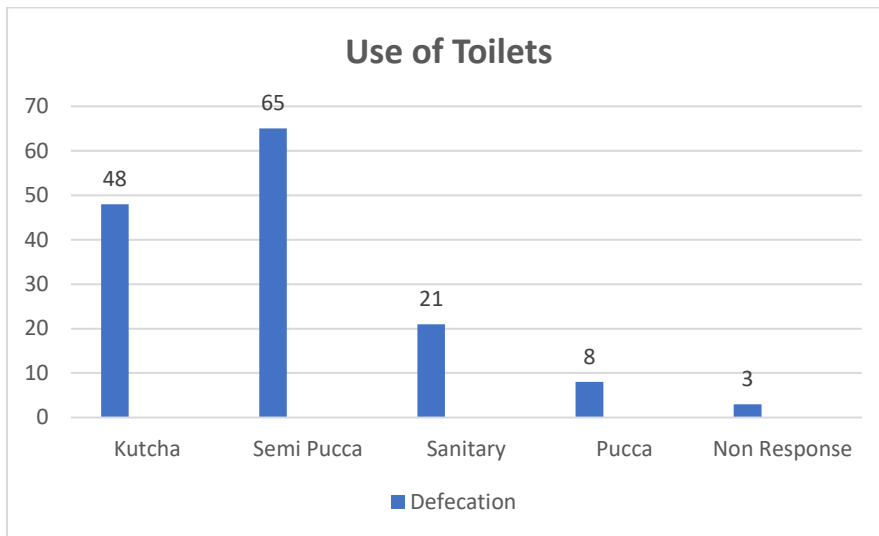

Majority of the respondents are observed be of low income category. This also shows that there is a huge need of raising income of people.

4.2.2 Wage type of the sample

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that a major portion (51%) of the sample receives daily wages while another fraction (7%) receives weekly wages. Thus around 58% of the sample works in informal sector and do not have stable income.

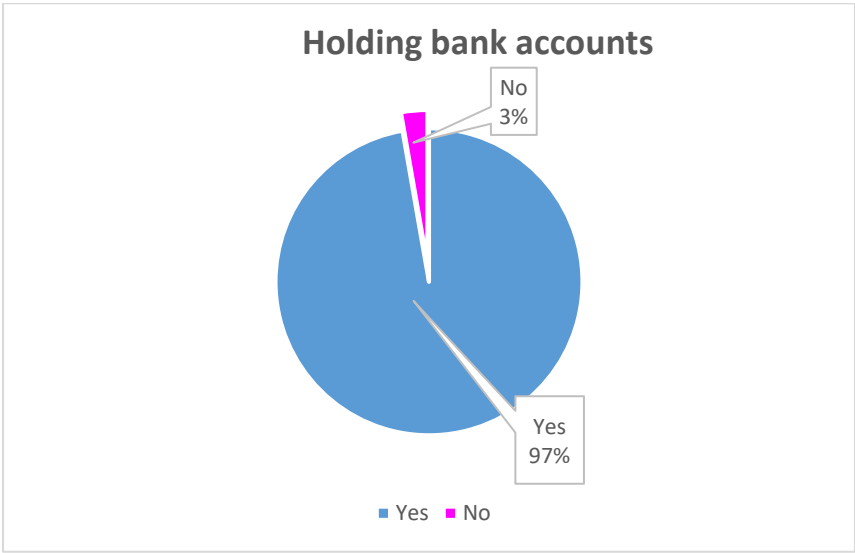

Source: Primary data

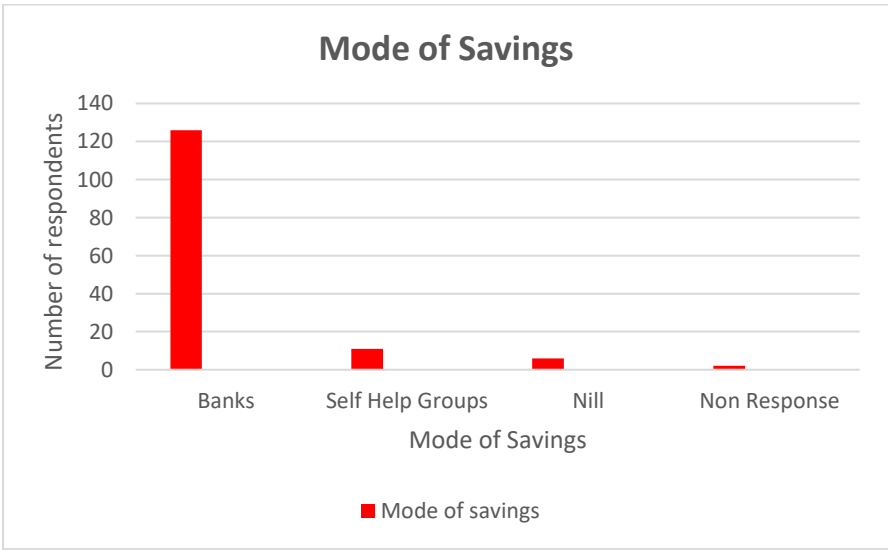

Source: Primary Data

Interpretation: An important observation is that majority of the respondents (50%) are happy with their family income while remaining (49%) are not happy with their family income although their income is not too high. This might be due to lower requirements and expectations.

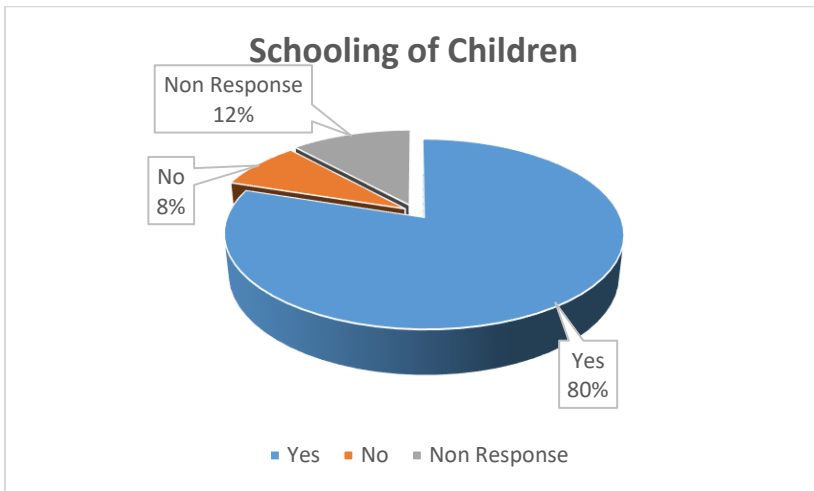

Source: Primary Data

Interpretation: A majority of respondents (97%) holds a bank accounts. This show the connection of the people of the village with financial system.

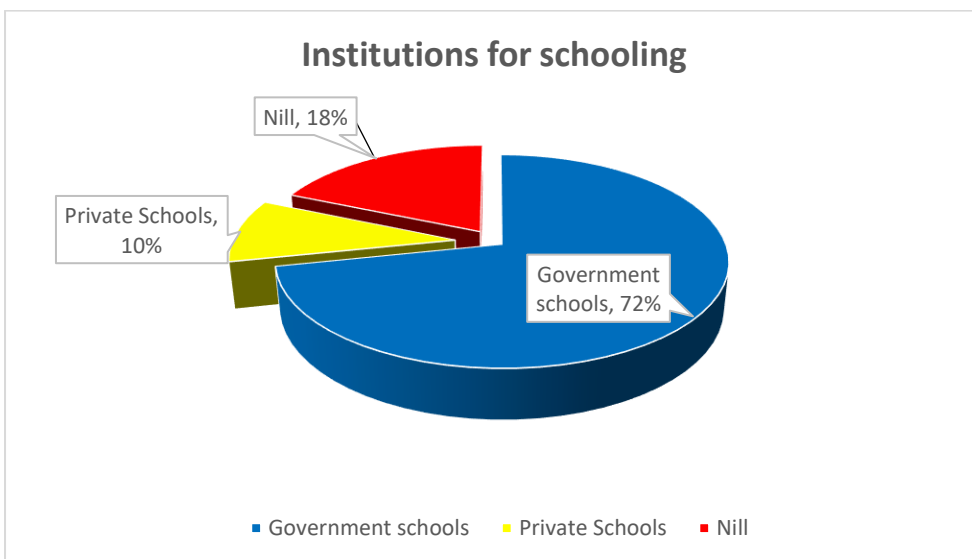

Source: Primary Data

Banks are found to be the most preferred mode of savings. While self-help groups are the second best choice for savings.

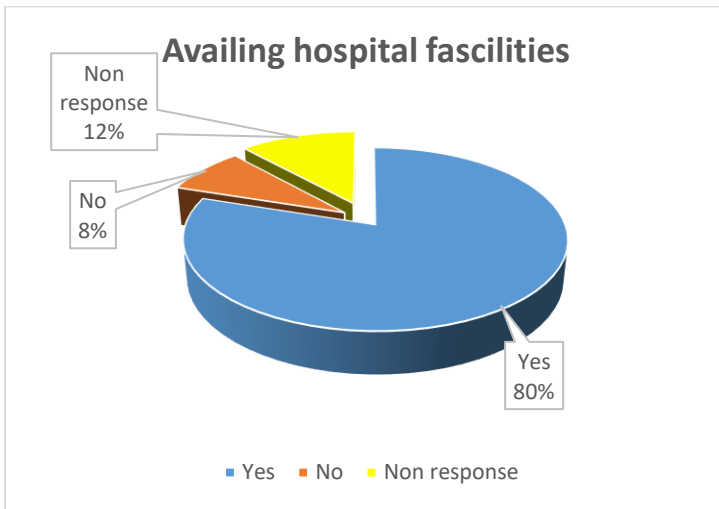

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that majority of respondents (80%) provides schooling to their students. This shows that the people in the village value education.

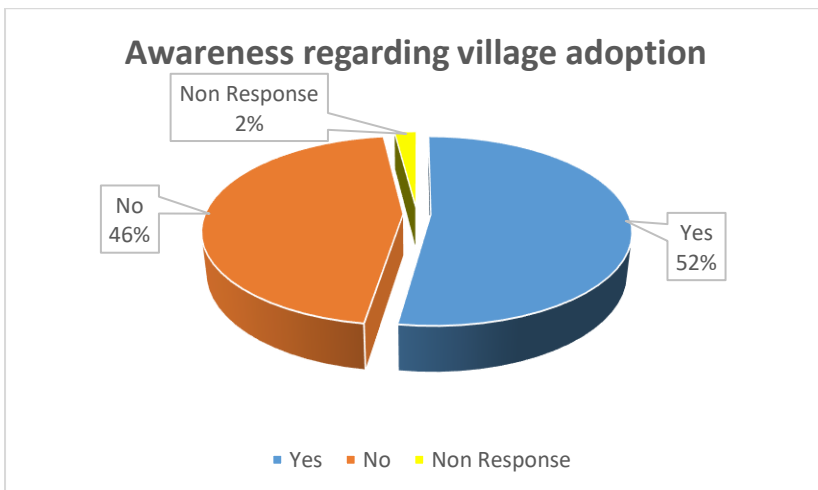

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that most of the students (72%) learn in government schools, 18% of them do not attend schools while 10% of them go to private schools.

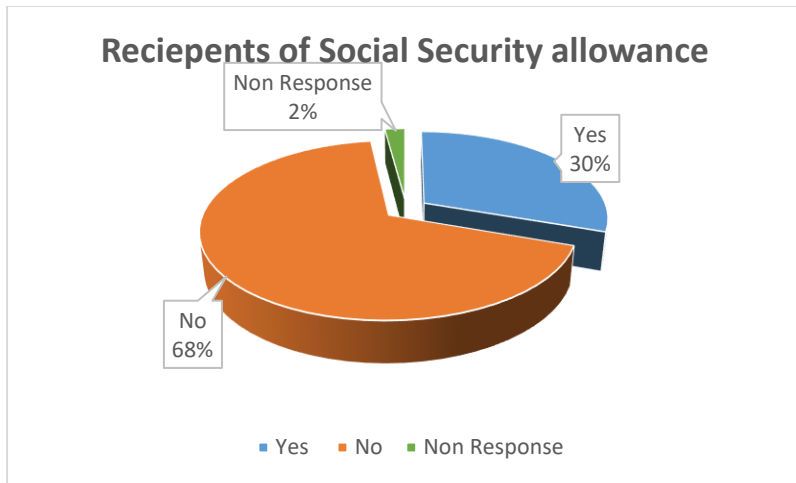

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that majority of the respondents (80%) avail hospital facilities when they suffer any kind of illness. This is a good sign as it ensures that proper treatment is received by the people. However a fraction (8%) of the responded of not availing medical facilities. It means they lean towards other ways of treatment, in which chances of wrong treatment very high. Thus, a need for creating awareness regarding this is observed.

Source: Primary Data

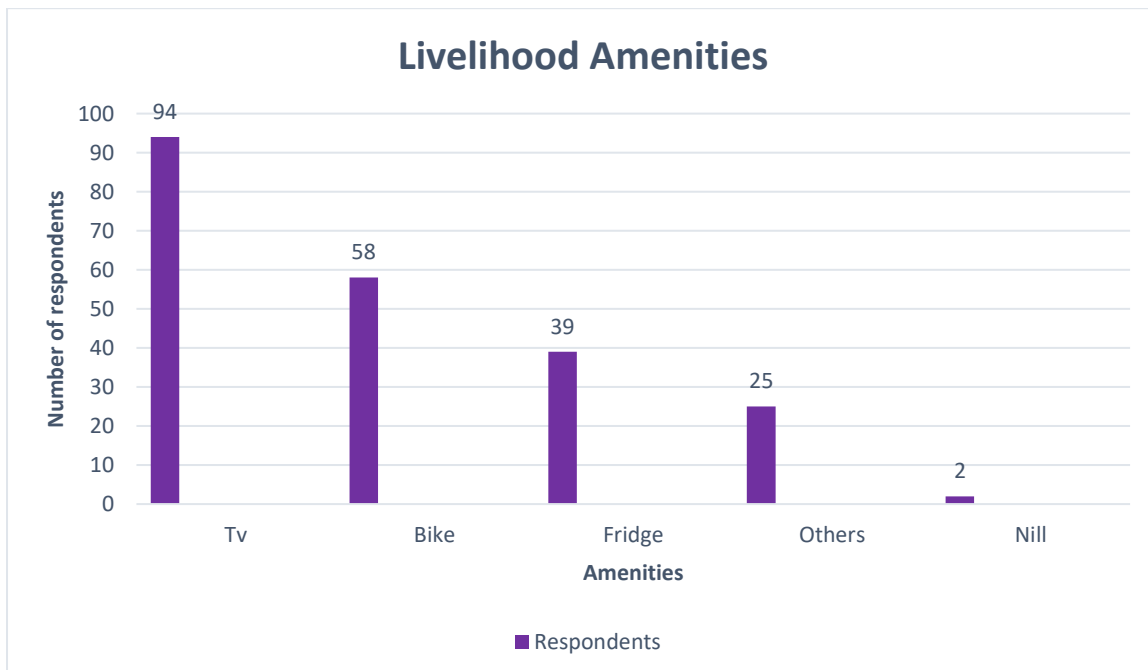

It is observed from the data that a major proportion of the sample (52%) is aware about the adoption of the village jointly by the Department of Economics and EDAA. However a large chunk of the sample (46%) is unaware about it. Thus need to create awareness regarding that is observed.

Source: Primary Data

It is observed that although a fraction of population (30%) receives a social security allowance, majority of the sample (68%) do not receives any such allowance.

Livelihood Amenities

Source: Primary Data

It is found that 94 respondents i.e. (64.82%) owns a TV, 58 (40%) of them owns a bike, 39 (26.89%) of them owns a fridge, while 25 (17.2%) of them owns other amenities. It is also found that 2 (1.37%) of the respondents doesn't own any such amenities.

Key findings of the survey:

- 1. The study finds that majority of the respondents have not attained higher education.
- 2. Majority of that sample do not own a pucca house. Thus a need for provision of pucca houses or the awareness regarding government schemes of pucca houses is observed.
- 3. It is observed that majority of the sample have more two or more than two children. This emphasized a need for the awareness regarding family planning and birth control measures.
- 4. Most of the respondents use avail medical facilities when suffered with illness. This is a good sign as it ensures better health and a reduction of deaths and complications related.
- 5. Most of the respondents are either daily wage workers or are weekly wage earners, hence do not have any stable income source. This highlights the need for skill development and career counselling in the village in order to increase the employability of the workers and increase their earning capacity.
- 6. A major proportion of the sample has monthly income below ₹ 20,000. This might be due to lower skills or income opportunities.
- 7. Majority of the villagers are observed to use either kutchha or semi- pucca toilets. Hence need for provision of pucca toilets is observed.

Future Plans according to the lessons learned from the survey:

- 1. Need to create awareness programmes regarding importance of higher education and helping them to avail various government funded scholarships. Also providing some financial assistance to some meritorious students.
- 2. It is observed that there are many people who use wood as cooking fuel thus awareness programs regarding the ill impacts of using wood and availing LPG cylinder under government schemes like ujjala programme.
- 3. Distribution of books and reading materials is highly appreciated and demanded hence such initiatives will have to be continued.
- 4. Career guidance programmes and skill development programmes can be organized in order to help people to increase their employability.
- 5. When asked about feedback and requirements, the demand for coaching institutes in the village is observed. Hence ways of providing one will have to be explored.
- 6. It is observed that the village lacks pucca toilets, thus awareness programme regarding the Swaccha Bharat mission and provision of public toilets can be arranged.
- 7. Majority of the sample were observed to have a bank account. It brings the necessity of programmes related to awareness about banking services, dealing with bank related frauds etc.
- 8. Majority of the respondents do not receive a social security allowances. Hence awareness programmes regarding awareness of the government social security provisions can be organized with guidance regarding application, for example; application for old age pension, government health insurance, widow pension etc.

Limitations of the study:

- 1. The study was conducted under a limited time frame.
- 2. The study was conducted with limited financial resources.
- 3. The study selected a small sample size which reduced its significance.
- 4. Respondent bias stands as a limitation of the study.
- 5. Non response from respondents is one of the limitations of the study.

Turtle Restoration & Turtle Conservation Pond

The restoration and conservation of eight turtle species, crucial for maintaining aquatic ecosystems, are milestones in the college's commitment to biodiversity preservation. The campus pond becomes a sanctuary for these remarkable creatures, contributing to broader global conservation goals.

Eight species totaling 50 individuals, ranging from vulnerable to critically endangered (IUCN-2021), find a refuge in the campus pond. The conservation status of each species is as follows:

- Pangshura tecta (Indian Roofed Turtle): Vulnerable
- Pangshura tentoria (Indian Tent Turtle): Least Concern
- Lissemys punctata (Indian Flapshell Turtle): Vulnerable
- Goeclemys hamiltonii (Spotted Pond Turtle): Endangered
- Nilssoniana gangetica (Indian Softshell Turtle): Endangered
- Nilssoniana hurum (Peacock Softshell): Endangered
- Nilssoniana nigricans (Black Softshell Turtle): Critically Endangered
- Kachuga sylhetensis (Assam Roofed Turtle): Critically Endangered

Subject: Request for permission to transfer the Turtle Species from Hajo to Pragjyotish College

Respected Sir

At the onset I would like to acknowledge the Managing Committee of Shree Shree Hayagriv Madhav Temple, Hajo for the sincere efforts they have been tendering from time immemorial for the turtle species in the temple pond. There are several highly endangered available in the temple pond and for proper generic conservation of these species and due to lack of place it is an urgent to transfer some of these species. Sir, Pragjyotish College is having two natural ponds which can be used for conservation and breeding of these endangered species. In this context, I would request you to grant permission for transferring these seven endangered species of turtles from Hajo to Pragjyotish College. Further, I would like to inform you that Dr. Jayanta Deka, Assistant Professor of Zoology, Pragjyotish College along with Prof. (Retd.) Dharendra Kumar Sharma of Gauhati University was working on status and conservation of turtle in Hajo area. Sir, in future Pragjyotish College is planning for setting up a Turtle Breeding Centre for conservation of these species in their natural habitat.

Your positive response to protect this schedule I species is highly solicited.

Thanking you

Yours sincerely
